

MUSEUM OF THE FORGOTTEN WARRIORS

NEWSLETTER #10 December 2018

Dear Volunteers,

We are just about to ring in 2019. The year has gone quickly, and we have been busy at the museum. We held our annual Christmas party on Sunday, December 2, with good food and visiting. The crazy red, white, and blue firecracker tree was a hit, and Harlan put some of the pictures on our website. The heaters and the bbq kept us warm, and the food was great. Thank you all who helped and contributed.

Our quarterly board meeting was held before the party, and we discussed some upcoming events and improvements to the museum. We will add some video surveillance soon, and the pressure tank will be a spring project. Also, we are planning to do some painting of equipment.

We received several donations this month, some rather interesting ones, including a bazooka! Because that's what everyone gets for Christmas, right? A nice lady brought in her father's WWI uniform and some pictures. We have re-worked a couple of the display cases to make room for these new donations.

Thanks to Don, Jack, Richard, Tony, Bill, Bert, and Ray for their help in December. We have enjoyed some good food on Saturdays and some treats too, but I'm not telling who brought them. We always have hot chocolate and/or coffee on cold days. There is a lot of kidding and fun on Saturdays, but we do manage to get things done. I believe the NRG will work on the start cart soon. There always seems to be something going on out here at the museum.

Personality, I am ready to turn my back on 2018. It has been a tough year for me, but there have been blessings as well. I never thought I would be doing this without Dann. But with all of your help, we are getting it done. I think he would approve.

For Dann, Roberta
